

COURSE SYLLABUS

Individual artistic work A – guest- and exchange students

Scope of the course

30 ECTS credits

Level

Basic level (first-cycle)

Language

English

Admission requirements

At least 60 ECTS credits from a foreign higher art institution and accepted as a guest or exchange student at the Royal Institute of Art.

Course content

The course will further develop students' practical ability to use their knowledge of techniques, materials and forms to realise artistic ideas. In seminars, lectures and studio talks, students will receive support to develop their working methods within the framework of an experimental approach. Via discussions in professor-led groups and group critiques as well as studio talks, students will be trained to present constructive criticism and employ a reflective perspective in their own work.

Expected learning outcomes

After completing the course, students should be able to:

- use their knowledge of techniques, forms and materials to realise their artistic ideas
- display further development of their working methods within the framework of an experimental approach
- employ a reflective perspective in their work

Course structure, sub-courses and segments

The course will be carried out in the form of individual work and supervision in the studio and workshops as well as studio talks, discussions in professor-led groups and group critiques. There will also be seminars, lectures, artist presentations and elective courses led by teaching staff or guest teachers.

Forms of examination

To conclude whether a student has achieved the learning outcomes an assessment will be made in professor-led group meetings and by evaluation of the student's work based on individual talks with the supervising professor.

The requirement for passing the course is active participation in the professor-led group meetings (a minimum of 4 each semester) and in individual talks with the supervising professor (a minimum of 2 each semester) as well as the achievement of the learning outcomes.

Grades

Pass or fail.

Examiner

The student's supervising professor.

Course literature and other study resources

Individually adapted and, if applicable, decided in consultation with the supervising professor.

Establishment

The course syllabus has been decided in the Education and Research Council June 2018 and is valid from the Autumn semester 2018.
